procession to-day was interrupted by many scenes of disorder caused by those who objected to his attitude toward the Queen. His carriage was stoned at various places along the route, windows were smashed and the enormous crowds were excited. The police were powerless to deal with the outbreaks. Several arrests were made. The mayors of Sligo and Drogheda, who had at first accepted invitations, refused to participate in the procession.

WIGS MAY LITTER DUBLIN GREEN. Irish Factions Likely to Quarrel When Victoria Visits Erin.

(Copyright, 1900, by the Associated Press.) LONDON, March 17 .- Outside the high international politics Ireland and the shamrock largely monopolize the attention of London. The internecine strife in the Nationalistic ranks engendered by the Dublin corporation's address to the Queen and the bitterness felt in Lovalist circles in Ireland at the outward exhibitions of disher Majesty keep the officials guessing as to what is likely to occur at the Irish capital next month. An official in the office of the chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Gerald Balfour, said he was not surprised at the Nationalists opposing the address of welcome, "which necessarily was either hypocrisy or a lie, in addition to which it would go far to stop the flow of American contributions." Speaking of the Queen's visit, the same official said he had little doubt that "wigs would litter Dublin Green" before the visit was con-

The new yacht built for the Queen in the government dockyards at a cost of about $2,500,000 will probably never be used by her Majesty. Her instability, so palpably J. J. O'Neill and Bob Lock, charged in the demonstrated at the time of her undocking, has caused the Queen to take a strong dislike to the vessel, and the alterations necessitated so materially reduced her comfort and convenience that it is believed they will render the vessel unsuitable for the purpose originally intended. The probability is that the yacht will ultimately be renamed Enchantress and converted into a dispatch vessel for the use of the Ad-

Incident of the St. Patrick's Day Pa rade at New York.

NEW YORK, March 17 .- The green flag of Ireland divided honors with the National, State and municipal colors on public buildings in New York to-day, while many business buildings and private houses also flew the ensign of the harp. Overhead the day was all that could be desired, but underfoot was deep slush through which the St. Patrick's day procession tramped ment with the First Regiment of !ris! Volunteer Infantry. As usual the parade was under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and was participated in by all of the Irish societies. Besides the parade there were several other celebrations in honor of the day, and to-night nearly all of the Irish societies and military organizations gave balls, dinners, or other entertainments.

The flag of the South African Republic was conspicuous in the parade and many of the paraders wore Boer buttons. Montague White and P. Louter Wessels, representatives of the Boer republics, rode in a carriage, as also did Patrick Egan, O'Donovan Rossa, Recorder Goff and hundreds of city officeholders.

Erin's Flag Floated on City Hall. MONTREAL, March 17 .- St. Patrick' day was never so generally observed in this city as to-day. The Irish flag floated on the City Hall for the first time in its history, and hundreds of British flags were on public and private buildings. The day almost lost its significance as purely Irish holiday. Monsignor Falconi the papal delegate to Canada, officiated at grand mass in St. Patrick's Church. Tonight the Irish societies held the usual patriotic entertainments, which were all largely attended.

Nearly All Sported the Shamrock. TORONTO, Ontario, March 17 .- St. Pat-

Services were held in the Catholic churches. where reference was made to the bravery of the Irish soldiers in South Africa. Concerts and banquets to-night by the different Irish societies wound up the day.

Shamrock in Mourning.

FRANKFORT, March 17 .- The examining trials of Republican Secretary of State Caleb Powers, W. H. E. V. BREWSTER SAYS HE CANNOT

SUPPORT THE NEBRASKAN.

NEW YORK, March 17 .- Eugene V. Brewster, of Brooklyn, who was toastmaster and chairman of the Bryan dollar dinner, and who has been probably the most conspicuous member of the so-called "Chicago platform Democracy," has written a letter to William J. Bryan in which he says that he cannot support Mr. Bryan for the presidency, and that he now abandons all effort to "effect a union of reform forces" under Bryan's leadership. Mr. Brewster in a discussion of the general question of trusts and machinery says:

"The trust question, to which you are devoting most of your attention, involves the very greatest and really the only problem that the American people have to solve. Regretfully, you seem to see only one side of the case, and, seeing only evil on that side, you would unhesitatingly destroy the trust. You do not seem to realize, dear Mr. Bryan, that the same arguments that you apply to the trust also apply equally well to improved machinery, and yet you would not destroy that. I have carefully studied the conditions and the many remedies offered by various parties and factions, and it seems to me that cooperation-socialism-is the only practical and the only possible remedy.' Mr. Brewster expresses his discontent with each of the principal existing political parties and announces his adherence to Millikin was lieutenant colonel of the First Ohio in the Spanish war. Fleischman was colonel on the staff of President McKinley when the latter was Governor The Democrats and independent Repub-

MILL

THE ALARM IS TURNED IN AT TWO O'CLOCK THIS MORNING.

Plant of the Indianapolis Planing Mill Company Destroyed-A Loss of $20,000.

At 2 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire called the department to the corner of Meridian and Wilkins streets. The blaze was in the Indianapolis Planing Mill Company's plant, and when the chief reached the scene it had gained such headway that he sounded a second alarm.

The fire burned flercely and most of the establishment was soon a mass of flames, lighting up the whole neighborhood. The company has recently been manufacturing kitchen furniture, and a considerable quantity of manufactured product was stored in the mill. Mr. Diedrich Mussman, president of the company, who was early on the scene, said that if the plant was burned down his loss would be $20,000. Considerable insurrance is carried.

When the fire broke out a brisk wind was blowing and the occupants of the frame cottages in the neighborhood were fearful lest their buildings should be destroyed. At 2:30 o'clock this morning it was thought the department would be able to confine the fire to the plani ng mill where it originated. The origin of the fire is unknown. Notwithstanding the hour a large crowd gathered to watch the progress of the

CHARLES EMORY SMITH SO DE-CLARES AMERICA TO BE.

The Nation's Moral and Material Attitude Toward Her Possessions Could Not Be Improved Upon.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 17.-Hon. Charles . Smith, postmaster general of the United States, was the honored guest of the Commercial Club to-night, having come to St. Louis in response to a special invitation to deliver an address. His prominence as a member of President McKinley's Cabinet gether with the provisions, were placed on | and his pre-eminence as a student of national affairs gave special importance to Mr. Smith's address, and it was listened to by a full attendance of the club. Mr. Smith's topic was "Home Development and Commercial Expansion." Aside from some features of his speech Mr. Smith avoided talking on any subject with a tendency toward politics. He advocated the highest possible development of all home industries and such a policy toward the outside world and the new colonies as will give the best and safest outlet for the surplus productions of the United States. After devoting considerable space to the marvelous industrial expansion of the United States in the past quarter of a century Mr. Smith continued:

"The first and paramount obligation connected with the war with Spain is the moral duty growing out of it. Above all other considerations are the moral responsibilities of our new possessions. We owe a duty for Hamburg; Etruria, for Liverpool; to our American character and honor. We Statendam, for Rotterdam via Boulogne. owe a duty to the new peoples who have come under our flag. We must, above all things, be true to the principle of liberty and justice and right. These obligations LONDON, March 17 .- Arrived: . Manitou. have been and will be thoroughly considered, but it does not fall within my present purpose to discuss them. Recognizing the moral duty as duty supreme. I do not hesitate to say that President McKinley has made it his guiding rule in dealing with all the transcendant questions which have grown out of our new possessions. "But when we have met the highest requirement of the moral standard, there is no code of ethics and no rule of statesmanship which excludes consideration of the commercial interests involved in our public policy. It is the obligation of the government first of all to be right; it is also its obligation to promote the advantage and welfare of its own people, and when the two fully coincide and harmonze, when the moral mandate and the material interests completely blend, the policy is doubly wise and the duty doubly commanding. Such is our present position. We | + should be recreant to our American manhood if we did not bravely fulfill the mission of humanity and civilization which the war has bequeathed to us. We should be strangely blind to our American interests if we did not recognize the requirements of our phenomenal industrial expansion and see the marvelous opportunity of commercial expansion, thus made necessary, which is opened before us." Speaking of the "open door" in China, Mr. Smith said: "The 'open door' in China + is the open sesame of vast possible trade, and the American accomplishment of the 'open door,' with the consent and pledge of all the great nations, and without the necessity of entering into any territorial division, is the greatest of all recent achievements of diplomacy. It secures for the United States a commercial opportunity which is immeasurable. It provides one of the great outlets which our industrial supremacy and our enormous producing capacity require. And that achievement is the great and magnificent fruit of our triumph at Manila and our possession of the Philippines. It comes because we have established our footing in the Orient; because we have planted ourselves for a thousand miles along the front |. of China, and because we have taken a new position as a world power. The potency of this commercial opportunity is worth immeasurably more than all the cost of the Spanish war, and all the cost of the subsequent conflict in the Philip-

Good, Bad and Indifferent Fighting a a Chicago Carnival.

CHICAGO, March 17 .- About 8,000 people saw thirty-two rounds of good, bad and indifferent fighting at Tattersall's, seven bouts being carded, three of which did not go to the limit. The wind-up was a six-round go at 120 pounds between Harry Forbes, of Chicago, and Benny Yanger, the "Tipton Slasher," of Chicago, who defeated Jack Madden, of Brooklyn, here a few weeks ago. Yanger's rushing and strength were too much for Forbes, and down twice, Referee Siler stopped the bout and gave Yanger the decision. In the preliminaries Barney Connors, of Chicago, won over Tom Duggan, of Australia, in the fourth round, the police stopping the bout when it was seen Duggan had no chance to win.

Jack Madden, the Brooklyn bantam, was given a decision over Morris Rauch, of chicago on a foul in the third round Rauch had the fight well in hand up to the time of the foul, which was committed when Madden was through the ropes and practically helpless.
Sol Smith, of California, and "Turkey Point" Billy Smith, of Philadelphia, fought six slow rounds to a draw. Solly was handicapped by a sprained left wrist and relied on his right almost altogether.

Russo-Japanese Relations Earnestly Discussed in the Island Empire.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Feb. 23., via Victoria, B. C., March 17.-The persistency with which the western press clings to the imminence of war between Russia and Japan is attracting much attention here. Thus far there has seemed to be no foundation whatsoever for the rumor. The fact which now impresses the public is the arrival of representatives of some of the prominent New York papers, they having been sent for the express purpose of being on the spot when the outbreak comes. This, together with the activity prevailing in the Russian squadron in eastern waters, assembling in force as it is in the Korean straits and the reports constantly coming in of extraordinary doings at Port Arthur, have at least forced the conviction that where there is so much smoke there must be some fire, and the people and the press are correspondingly on the qui vive. In official circles, however, the utmost calm is manifest while everybody else is wondering what it all means. In the meantime one of the Chinese papers actually pronounds the theory that Japan will be likely to take the opportunity furnished by the approaching naval maneuvers in the Koby another great fire, sweeping away some three hundred houses in the native town. Not so utter destitution as usual has been caused by it, as the Japanese are now
